School Code Will Be Passed.

Nobody To Be Responsible For Anything.

MANAGEMENT PUT IN HANDS OF SCHOOL COUNCIL.

ONE MAN FROM EACH WARD

Appointment of Teachers Must be Confirmed by Council Which Will Handle Supplies.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Sesse's school code will be passed by the House. The ways have been greased and there is no doubt as to that action. Members generally were consulted in the preparation of the bill and it has been so shaped that it will command enough votes for its passage. As in the municipal code it makes the least change in Cincinnati. The school management there will remain practically unchanged. In Cleveland there will be a complete revolution. This Sesse code will place the entire management of the schools in the hands of a school council one member of which will be elected from every ward. In Cleveland the council will have 27 members. Its power will be absolute. There will be no executive branch with independent authority. It will be as though a city council were given power to run the entire city government from mayor to catch basin cleaner. The school council will name the superintendent. The latter will appoint the teachers, subject to confirmation by the council. It will be a return to the old days when the superintendent to keep his job, accepted the teachers recommended to him by the board. Political pulls were the main things. A young woman having relatives with a lusty influence in politics was pretty sure to get on the pay roll if she was a little short on diplomas. Contracts for new buildings and supplies will be meat for council committees, as in the old days. Nobody will be responsible for anything.

Corbett Down To Weight.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 18.—Young Corbett is down to weight, 127 pounds. His trainer, Harry Tutthill, and Corbett himself are the authority for the statement. Terry McGovern weighed in Wednesday and tipped the beam at 121 1/2. The uncertainty of the match has caused interest in the training camps to wane, and the court decision at Louisville today is anxiously awaited.

PICTURE

Correspondent Procured Was Wrong One and Now Prince Talks of Prosecution.

Delaware, Sept. 18.—Among the students who matriculated at the opening of the Ohio Wesleyan University here, none attracted more attention than P. Yee, Prince Euiwha of Corea, and his secretary, Eungni Hahn.

Prince Yee as he is generally known is the second son of the king of Corea is 22 years old, and a faultless dresser and speaks the English language well, having been in this country about two years.

His secretary is a most affable young gentleman, some years the prince's senior, and also speaks English. The two young gentlemen spent five years in Japan prior to their coming to this country, and have traveled extensively in this and other countries.

Prince Euiwha expressed himself as being charmed with America and Americans. Both gentlemen have been besieged by newspaper men and relate a good joke on a local correspondent of one of the Cleveland papers, who gained entrance to their rooms while they were absent and appropriated a picture of a friend of the prince which was on the mantel, thinking it was a picture of the prince himself.

While appreciating the joke the prince was indignant at the method employed to obtain the photograph and threatens to institute prosecution unless the same is returned.

New York, Sept. 18.—A Washington dispatch to the Herald is as follows: Representative Charles E. Littlefield of Maine, who has already been elected a member of the Fifty-eighth Congress, is the first to announce his candidacy for Speaker of the House in view of General Henderson's withdrawal.

To a Washington friend who sent a telegram of inquiry Mr. Littlefield sent this reply: "If General Henderson does not return I shall be a candidate for Speaker. In that contingency anything my friends can do will be appreciated."

REPRESENTATIVE LITTLEFIELD.

Mr. Littlefield's friends will urge him as a candidate of the younger element of the House, and also as representing the anti-trust sentiment in the Republican party."

Mr. Littlefield's views in regard to trust legislation are known to be in accord with those of the President, and on this account his friends say that supporters of the administration will be inclined to look with favor upon his candidacy.

MASSACHUSETTS DEMOCRATS.

PEARY

Has Made Important Discoveries.

Though He Did Not Reach North Pole.

EXPLORER ARRIVED AT NORTH SYDNEY THURSDAY.

DR. DIEDRICK IS WITH PEARY, in Splendid Health, but His Wife Has Been Ill—They Are Now En Route Home.

North Sydney, N. S., Sept. 18.—Lieut. Peary arrived from the frozen north on board the relief ship Winward at 8:15 o'clock this morning. Dr. Diedrick was also aboard. Peary did not reach the north pole but on the last dash made important discoveries.

As Lieut. Peary stepped ashore from the Winward he said to the waiting newspaper men: "My last dash for the pole was a most successful expedition. I was further north than $3.27, my previous record."

Peary is in remarkably good health. Mrs. Peary who went north on the Winward to greet her husband was ill for a fortnight, but is now well on the road to recovery.

Dr. Diedrick, whose row with Peary resulted in his leaving Peary a year ago, since which time he has been living with the Esquimaux, is apparently in good health. He was picked up at Etah by the Winward, in accordance with an arrangement made when he left Peary.

Explorer Peary got as far north as latitude 84 1/2, the highest point yet attained on this continent. Peary made the dash in the face of the greatest odds. He left Erik harbor on August 29, 1901, and reached Payor Harbor Sept. 16. A week later his Esquimaux began to fall sick. In a month six adults and one child were dead. All others had been ill but recovered. Couriers were sent to Avail to ask for help but as the tribe there was passing through an epidemic it was months before any could come. Then he started back.

Washington, Sept. 18.—When Commander Robert E. Peary, U. S. N., who is now on his way to New York from his attempt to reach the north pole, reports to the navy department, he will be assigned to duty in the United States. Commander Peary has been on leave of absence since May 17, 1897 and during that time has been promoted from Lieut. Commander to his present grade. His services as a civil engineer are needed as there are only 21 in the navy at this time.

OUTLAWS

Are One Thousand Corporations in Kansas Because They Refused to Take the Trust Cure.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 18.—According to a decision rendered by Judge Hazen, of the Shawnee County District Court, all the corporations doing business in this state, with but 14 exceptions, are outlaws in Kansas and have no standing in Kansas courts. There are, therefore, nearly 1,000 corporations now doing business in Kansas which are outlaws.

The provision of the law which the corporations have failed to observe is one providing for the "publicity" proposed as a trust cure. It provided that all corporations shall make a full and complete written report to the Secretary of State, giving the extent and character of their business, financial standing, and also obtain a charter from the state charter board, filing at the same time a written agreement to observe or be sued in the Kansas courts.

The case which gave rise to Judge Hazen's decision was one brought by the Republic Paper Company against C. L. and the Republic Paper Co. of Kansas as stockholders in the old Topeka Capital Company to recover the amount of an old paper bill. The case was thrown out of court on the grounds set forth.

BANK

Doors Failed to Open Owing to Recent Heavy Loss of Money.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18.—The banking doors of the New York State Banking company did not open this morning and upon the glass door of the room upon the second floor of the Wieting block was pasted this sign:

"This bank has recently met with a heavy loss and for that reason is closed by order of the superintendent of banks. George S. Leonard, chief examiner of the banking department, is in charge pending an examination."

The cause of the trouble has not been made public. The capital of the New York State Banking company is $100,000, and its advertisements state that the surplus is $80,000.

The New York State Banking company was organized under the general banking laws of the state of New York. Its business was established in 1853. It was first known as the old Burnet Bank.

President Bonta said that he could only guess upon the number of depositors. He would say there were between 50 and 100. They are mostly business men. Its quarterly statement issued Sept. 6, says that there was then due depositors $342,436.63, and due trust companies, banks, brokers, etc., $178,197.12.

Fond Du Lac, Wis., Sept. 18.—The Republicans of the Sixth congressional district went on record Wednesday as favoring tariff revision in the following terms:

"We favor such changes in the tariff from time to time as become advisable through the progress of our industries and their changing relations to the commerce of the world. We endorse the policy of reciprocity as the natural complement of protection and urge its development as necessary to the realization of our highest commercial possibilities."

SAW SONS

Burning to Death in a Strawstack, But He Was Powerless to Give Them Aid.

Frankfort, Ind., Sept. 18.—Late last evening two sons of George Trobaugh, a farmer, were burned to death in a strawstack. There was a hole in the strawstack caused by the straw having been piled over two fallen trees, and the boys are supposed to have gone into the hole and started a fire. They were unable to escape, and their bodies were almost totally consumed.

Mr. Trobaugh was at work a short distance away when he saw the fire break out and ran to the stack. He could see the children driven back by the roaring furnace but was driven back by the terrible heat, although himself very seriously burned in the effort to save them. When the fire had exhausted itself the bodies were found to be bereft of head and limbs.

BODIES

They will go first to Honolulu, thence to Guam, and from there to Manila. The bodies will be forwarded to the relatives or friends of the deceased at the expense of the United States government.

About 27,000 persons are employed in the 1271 hotels for tourists in Scotland.

FISH

Tragedy Was the Result of a Drunken Row Says Jerome.

New York, Sept. 18.—After a careful investigation of the Fish tragedy District Attorney Jerome today says: "There was no woman back of the case. It was nothing but a saloon row. Men, strangers to each other, both under the influence of liquor, became parties to a common saloon brawl. Fish called Sharkey a villain name. Sharkey hit him too hard. If anybody called me such names I would have hit out too. It was simply a drunken row."

DEFIANCE

MEETNIG LAST NIGHT WAS A ROUSE.

Johnson and Bigelow Spoke to Crowd in Tent Which Was Filled to Overflowing.

Defiance, O., Sept. 18.—The Johnson-Bigelow tent was filled last night and 200 or 300 people stood on the outside. The famous red auto of Mayor Tom and his five friends reached here from Napoleon about noon after a 25 mile spin over good roads.

Shortly after arriving Mr. Johnson, as has been his custom, called on the County Auditor to find the rate of railroad taxation in this county, and obtained the information that he used in his speech last night.

Mayor Johnson is in excellent humor and thinks that everything is perfectly lovely for the Democratic ticket wherever he has been. He was much amused over the statement of Senator Hanna that Johnson is making votes for the Republicans.

"If that's the case," he said, "we intend to go on in the same old way until the end of the campaign."

The caravan, with the tent men in khaki uniforms, continues to excite great curiosity, and the red auto, which stood in front of the hotel most of the day, attracted the critical attention of many citizens.

The Chairman of the meeting was T. T. Ansberry, who in introducing Mayor Johnson expressed the opinion that the Cleveland Mayor might be the standard bearer of the Democrats for President in 1904. Mayor Tom moved uneasily, and when he arose to speak, said: "Think lightly of the joke of your chairman. I am a candidate only for Mayor of Cleveland, and that is as big a job as I want to tackle."

Congressman Snook, who is touring the district with the caravan, was the first speaker after the Chairman, and he touched somewhat on national affairs, and referred to the declaration of Speaker Henderson to run again for Congress as an evidence of the division of the Republicans on the tariff question. He commended the Iowa State platform of the Republicans and declared that it was pretty good Democratic doctrine.

Rev. Herbert S. Bigelow, candidate for Secretary of State, explained at some length why, as a preacher, he was justified in entering the issues which he said involved the welfare of humanity. He did not believe in directing the attention of people alone to the world beyond, but thought their lot should be made as happy and free from trouble as possible.

Mr. Bigelow and Mr. Johnson had a great deal to say about Senator Hanna and his alleged partiality toward monopolies. Neither of them spoke of national politics except incidentally. Toward the end of his address Mr. Johnson grew sarcastic in quizzing the Republicans why they intended to vote the ticket this year, and he poked a little fun at the full dinner pail when he asked:

"Will you vote for the Republican party because of the full dinner pail, when it is so hard to fill it?"

Fayetteville, W. Va., Sept. 18.—The coal tipples and adjoining buildings of the Victoria Coal and Coke company at South Carpenter were destroyed by fire this morning, and those connected with the mine claim that the fire was of incendiary origin. Miners are still on a strike there.

THREATS

Of Prosecution Made Against Mayor

And Some of His Cabinet at Columbus.

GROWING OUT OF WORKHOUSE INQUIRY.

THE SENSATIONAL TESTIMONY

Given at Columbus Causes the Trouble—Claim to be Victims of a Conspiracy.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 18.—Mayor John H. Hinkle, according to Attorney Ulric Sloane, is to be charged with conspiracy by Dr. C. S. Carr, a member of the City Workhouse Board, editor of the Medical Talk, and a prominent citizen.

The charge against the Mayor grows out of sensational testimony that was offered before the Mayor in an investigation he is conducting of the Directors of the Workhouse, an outline of which was wired to the Advocate yesterday.

Frank Shanley, a young man living at 285 South Gift street, offered the testimony that, it is alleged, will bring about the proceedings against Mayor Hinkle. He will be charged with conspiracy jointly with the Mayor. Ulric Sloan is attorney for Dr. Carr, and Mr. Carr says that he had requested his lawyer to lose no time instituting the proceedings.

The testimony of Frank Shanley connects the name of Mrs. Walters, wife of Superintendent Walters, of the Workhouse, with that of Dr. Carr. Mayor Hinkle not long ago preferred charges against Directors Carr, Plaisted and McElroy, of the Workhouse Board. He charged Superintendent Walters with mismanagement and extravagance and the three Directors with knowing of these violations and approving his conduct. Mayor Hinkle summoned the three Directors to appear before him and defend themselves against the charges. They did not appear, although Attorney Sloane was present to hear what developed.

Frank Shanley was asked about Director Carr's visits to the workhouse. He declared that Carr was at the institution "all the time, day and night."

"He was in love with Walters's wife," said witness. "I used to raise mushrooms in the gravel pit back of the workhouse for the Fulton Market. In April, 1901, I saw Dr. Carr and Mrs. Walters come down in the gravel pit. At another time I saw Mrs. Walters and Dr. Carr go out riding together."

At another time Shanley declared he saw Mrs. Walters sitting on Dr. Carr's knee. This he said happened at the workhouse, and the witness said he saw it through a window.

Mrs. Walters is a handsome woman. Up to this time not a breath of suspicion had attached to her good name. Mrs. Walters also threatens to institute a suit against Mayor Hinkle, his Director of Public Safety, C. C. Philbrick, and C. M. Addison, who was present as the Mayor's attorney, charging conspiracy.

Attorney Sloane, representing the complainants, says the testimony of Shanley was untrue from beginning to end, and he for one was going to see if officials could attack decent people and make a brutal war on a splendid woman to further their own ends.

Mayor Hinkle declares that he had no previous knowledge of what Shanley would testify to with regard to Dr. Carr and Mrs. Walters. He said he only expected Shanley to testify concerning Director Plaisted. He said he would strike out all the testimony given by Shanley except that pertaining to Plaisted. He said he did not want to hurt Mrs. Walters's reputation.

ROBBER

Dropped Dynamite Bomb in an Alaska Bank and Was Blown to Pieces.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18.—A special train Skagway, Alaska, says:

"About three o'clock in the afternoon an unknown man walked into the Canadian Bank of Commerce, a revolver in one hand and a dynamite bomb in the other, and demanded $20,000 threatening to blow all into eternity. Cashier Pooley and Teller Wallace were the only two men in the bank. Wallace ducked to get his gun and ran quickly to the back of the room, yelling for Pooley to do the same.

"No you don't!" yelled the man and dropped the bomb. The clerks had just got out of the window. The bank was wrecked. The robber's head was smashed and one arm torn off. People living above the bank were blown into the air.

J. G. Price, formerly prosecutor's attorney, who was entering the bank at the time, was hurt but not seriously. The dynamite died without retaining consciousness. The bank lost about $1,000, chiefly in gold dust, which was lying on the counter."

FELL TO DEATH

CLARK WALRATH VICTIM OF A FATAL ACCIDENT.

Found Dead in Elevator Shaft at the Place Where He Was Employed.

Burial Saturday.

Mr. Clark Walrath, a native and almost life long resident of Newark, who has recently resided in Chicago, died very suddenly on Wednesday.

For a number of years while in Newark Mr. Walrath was the engineer in Thomas' flour mill on South Second street but while in Chicago he had been engaged in running an engine in a large manufacturing establishment.

He was found dead in the shaft of the elevator connected with the establishment in which he worked, but the full particulars of his death are not known as yet.

The remains will be brought here on R. E. O. No. 46 at 7:15 Friday morning, and the funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. S. P. Kline, the well known telegraph operator, at the corner of Church and Eleventh streets. The funeral will be under the auspices of Minnewa Tribe of Red Men, of which the deceased was a prominent member. Mr. Walrath leaves a wife, two daughters and one son, two brothers and three sisters to mourn his death. The children of the deceased are Miss Daisy Walrath of Chicago, Mrs. Ida Kline of this city, and Alonzo Walrath of Chicago. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family in their sudden and sad affliction.

A message to the Advocate from Chicago says of Mr. Walrath's death: Clark Walrath, 50 years old, formerly of Newark, Ohio, was found dead at the bottom of an elevator shaft in a building at 1319 Michigan avenue yesterday morning shortly after 6 o'clock. His head was crushed and it is believed he fell from the third floor to the bottom of the shaft, alighting on his head. Walrath lived at 1450 Michigan avenue, and for several years had been employed in the building as an engineer. The body was taken to Perigo's undertaking establishment, but will be removed to Newark.

"I don't know as you can," he said.

"For I don't see nothin' like what I want."

I repeated what I had already said. He asked me to sit while he told me.

"You see, it's like this," he began. "I had a girl that I loved, and we was going to get married. She had her things made up and was all but ready when she was taken ill and died, and what I wanted was a picture of me sittin' on her grave."

BABY KILLING GERM

HOW SUMMER COMPLAINT BACILLUS WAS DISCOVERED.

John D. Rockefeller Furnished the Money for the Investigation—Work of Dr. Welch and His Aids—Victory for Medical Science.

The discovery of the bacillus that causes intestinal disorders in children, which has just been announced by Dr. William H. Welch of the Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, is hailed by the medical fraternity as second to none that has been made in the last century.

The disease commonly known as summer complaint is the most dangerous and insidious foe against which babies have to contend, and the finding of the germ will probably lead to the discovery of some antitoxin or drug to neutralize its deadly effect.

This important scientific discovery is indirectly due to John D. Rockefeller. Two years ago his little grandson, Jack McCormick, fell a victim to this malady, which attacks rich and poor alike.

Less than a month after the death of the child Mr. Rockefeller had put the machinery of science into motion to discover the cause of the disorders so fatal to infants.

He announced a fund of $200,000 to be devoted to research and asked Dr.

DR. WILLIAM H. WELCH.

William H. Welch of Baltimore, one of the most distinguished pathologists in the world, to conduct the inquiry.

Now that the germ has been discovered the great pathologist and his corps of aids will bend their energies to the discovery of a destroyer of the germ.

The investigation has been conducted throughout the summer at the laboratory of the Thomas Wilson Sanatorium for Children at Mount Wilson, in Baltimore county, Md.

Between three and four hundred children suffering from intestinal disorders are always to be found at this sanatorium during the summer months. There Dr. Welch stationed two students in whom he has taken great interest by reason of their intelligent devotion to bacteriology and microscopy.

One of them was Charles W. Duvall of Annapolis, Md., who will gain his degree at the University of Pennsylvania Medical school next year. The other was Victor H. Bassett of Alameda, Cal., a student at the Johns Hopkins Medical school. Their discovery is announced as the first victory for the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research.

But Dr. Welch does not hesitate to give the young men full credit for finding the specific organism.

Mr. Bassett, who had devoted several years to microscopy, has the honor of actually discovering the germ. To Mr. Duvall is the credit due of isolating the organism.

Few people realize what a devastating disease the so-called summer complaint is. It is estimated that upward of 125,000 children of this country succumb to the malady during the months of July and August. Only one-third as many die of cholera.

From the time of Benjamin, in 1777, the first to make the intestinal troubles of children the subject of careful investigation, down to the present all efforts to isolate the specific germ responsible for the disorders have failed.

What the curative effects of the Duvall-Bassett discovery will be is a matter for the future to decide. It is the problem to which the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research will devote all its energies. But half the victory and more is won. The scientists now know just what they are fighting.

As the disease enters the body in food and drink Dr. Welch points out that it emphasizes the essentiality of pure milk and pure water.

CAN'T BE SEPARATED

Some Newark People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Packache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them.

And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong, the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Doan's Kidney Pills make strong, healthy kidneys.

Mrs. John Goodwin, No. 8 Meyer street, says: "My back was so painfully troubled that I could neither sit, stand or lie down, with any comfort. It was the first time that I had anything wrong with my kidneys and happening to see Doan's Kidney Pills endorsed locally and the description of the trouble so coincided with mine I sent to Crayton's drug store and got a box. After I had been using them a short time I felt that I was improving. My back finally got well so that before long I was able to be around again."

A PERSONATION OFF THE BOARDS
[Original.]
A gentleman jumped from a cab, paid the driver and, seizing a small handbag and a package of umbrellas and canes, stepped briskly into a hotel. His face was cleanly shaven, and he was dressed in a new suit of Scotch tweed with a figure like a checker-board. From this description he may easily be recognized as belonging to the dramatic profession. At the counter he synged the register around, seized a pen and entered his name as John Overaker.
"Let me have a blank check," said the gentleman.
The clerk handed him the desired article, and Mr. Overaker filled it out on a New York bank for $50. Handing it to the clerk, he stood as though expecting the money. The clerk hesitated.
"I'm sorry, Mr. Overaker," said the clerk, "that we deposited in bank nearly all our cash today. If you can wait awhile, I'll be happy to accommodate you."
"Any time," said the gentleman. "I may not need it till late this evening."
He then turned and followed the bellboy to his room. In half an hour he descended to the dining room, from which he emerged a few minutes before 8 o'clock. He was about to leave the hotel when the clerk called to him: "I have the money for your check now. Will you kindly step into the office a moment?"
Why he was asked into the office Mr. Overaker could not understand. Nevertheless he stepped through a door beside the counter and found himself in a small room with two men in police uniform.
"Mr. Overaker," said one of them, "have you any letters in your pocket?"
"What does this mean?" asked the gentleman, astonished.
"Answer my question."
"Yes, I have. Do you want to examine my private correspondence?"
"I would like to look at the address."
Mr. Overaker took half a dozen letters from his pocket and handed them to the officer, who looked at them, then looked at Mr. Overaker, then put the letters in his pocket. From another pocket he drew a photograph, which he studied carefully, after which he made a similar study of the features of Mr. Overaker.
"Pat Doolan," he said, "alias Handy Jim, we've been looking for you for some time. You're the slickest confidence man in the business. This job, however, is so barefaced, so easy of detection, that I am astonished. You not only impersonate a man well known in this town, but when asked to identify yourself as him you hand out letters addressed to another man. This photograph from the rogues' gallery was evidently taken when you were a younger man, but the expression is less hardened."
"Mr. Policeman," said the accused man, with a queer look in his eye, "don't you think I'm at least entitled to the money on the check I've drawn?"
"I think you'll come along with me."
"Not just now, if you please. There are a thousand people waiting for that hardened face of mine. After they're through with me I'll devote myself to you."
"Before you see them you'll be back in familiar quarters—a cell."
"Who are you anyway?"
"Inspector Gallagher."
At that moment there was a violent ring at the telephone bell, which was answered by the clerk, who had been a lookout on.
"Well?"
"Is this G's hotel?"
"Yes."
"Is Walter Courtney there?"
"No such person stopping here."
"Yes; there is. Start your boys around at once to find out what's the matter with him."
"I tell you he's not here."
"And I tell you he is. We're waiting for him."
"Who's waiting for him?"
"Why, the company at the theater."
"What theater?"
At the word theater Mr. Overaker pricked up his ears.
"E's theater. Perhaps he's registered under another name. He is an absentminded man and gets mixed with the characters he plays."
"What character does he play tonight?"
"John Overaker in 'The Shortest Way There.'"
"By thunder!"
Meanwhile the policemen were about to take away the suspect when the clerk stopped them and told them to wait a bit. After hearing the last words he dropped the receiver and said to Mr. Overaker:
"Are you Walter Courtney?"
"Of course I am."
"Then why the dickens have you been personating John Overaker?"
Mr. Courtney for the first time saw his blunder.
"Because," he replied, with a twinkle in his eye, "I'm an actor."
"Front," called the clerk wildly. "Call a carriage and be quick about it. Mr. Courtney, I'm very sorry that you have been inconvenienced." Then, going to the safe, he clutched five ten dollar bills and brought them to the actor.
"Corriage," called the bellboy.
"Goodby, Mr. Policeman," called Mr. Courtney. "Don't lose that precious photograph from the rogues' gallery taken of me when my face was less hardened. I'll make the best gag out of this tonight I've ever made in the stage."
"If you do, I'll leave the force."
"Well, we'll compromise by your meeting me after the play, and we'll let that $50 I've got by a confidence game go for champagne. After all, the joke's on me."

Hale Has Many Backs.
Ruggles Beach, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Wednesday was an ideal day for foot ball and the O. S. U. players were put through another hard day's work. In the morning a 14 mile walk was taken and the men were out in togs at 4 p. m.
Sharp signal work was participated in, Coach Hale using several pairs of backs, alternating Elder and Dandiel at full, while Swan, Hill, Wheeler Kile, Brown and Theobald were tried out at the halves. Wiles was at quarter all afternoon, as Jackson is laid up with a bad knee.
Cornell, Oliver, Van Horne and Brown were tried out at the ends. Fay and Diltz alternated at center while Marker and Coover played the tackles. Malone, Riddle and Turner were tried out at guards.
Lincoln still remains at camp and does light work in order to come up slowly on account of his weak heart. He may later on in the year be seen in the game.
Of the halfbacks, Wheeler is showing up a long ways ahead of the rest of the bunch, while the fight for full is a warm one. Both Elder and Dandiel are valuable backs and one will probably be moved over to the half-back position.
All the men are in fine condition except Brown and Jackson, the former suffering from a muscle bruise, while "Jack" has a bad knee. The team will arrive home Sunday evening. Assistant Manager McClure left for Columbus.
Lord Derby Beats the Monk.
New York, Sept. 15.—The racing was decidedly exciting at the Empire City track Wednesday. The weather was perfect, the track fast, and speculation brisk.
In the grand special between Lord Derby 2:05 3/4 and Tae Monk with the same record, the former was the choice at 10 to 50. The Monk had the pole and C. K. G. Bilings lost no time in sending him to the front. He led by two lengths up to the top of the stretch, when Smathers sent Lord Derby for one of those electric finishes for which he has become famous. He was just a little too late, however, and though The Monk was tiring, he just managed to win by a nose. The finish brought the occupants of the grand stand to their feet and both horses were loudly cheered as they returned to the judge's stand. The betting was now 100 to 75 on Lord Derby. The Monk led to within fifty yards of the wire when Lord Derby in a superb drive won by a neck. Pools now sold at $50 to $25 on Lord Derby and the pair got a perfect start again going like a team to the back stretch where The Monk broke and Lord Derby came on and won by five lengths. This was the fastest race of three heats to wagon ever trotted, the time in the second and third heats being 2:06 and in the first heat 2:06 1/2.
Lancaster Wins Championship.
Lancaster defeated Sidney for the base ball amateur championship of Ohio two games out of three, at Lancaster, the deciding game being played at Lancaster, Wednesday. It was won 3 to 2 by Lancaster, before 2000 people. Arthur Francis who played several times with Newark this season, put up a phenomenal game at short stop for Lancaster, while Sickles captain of the Ohio Medical foot ball team, played star ball in center.
Ohio Medics Begin Work.
Coach J. B. C. Eckstorm who for three years last past, coached Ohio State, has taken charge of the strong Ohio Medical team of Columbus, and expects to turn out a winner. He certainly will have some great material including Gross a 208 pound guard, Francis a 200 pound back, McCullum 95, who has had experience in line work, and Kelso an Erie, Pa., man, who, although he weighs 235 pounds, is light and active on his feet.
Sporting Notes.
The Carlisle Indians expect to have a better team than last season, about 5 men trying for the team. Glen Varner, the old Cornell player, will coach them again. Their schedule is much lighter than last season.
Sixty men are out to try for positions on the West Point team, and he great Daly is to be again with them, which in itself insures them a good team. The coaching will be done as before by graduates, although Harrison Graves, of Yale, will assist. They lay the Naval Cadets at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, on November 29. All other games will be played at West Point.
The candidates for University of Pennsylvania's foot ball team, indulge in boxing in the morning to develop quickness of eye and judgment of distance.
Wooster expects to have a good foot ball team this season as there has been good material showing up in the preliminary work. Wooster plays Denison at Granville, November 15.

LEGEND OF A LAKE
In a lonely glen in Scotland surrounded by lofty mountains and valleys from any habitation lies a small loch, or tarn, around which tradition has cast a legend.
Years and years ago, when the turbulent state of Scotland rendered life and property insecure, a large amount of treasure was supposed to have been thrown into the loch, there to escape detection and to await the return of peaceful times to enable it to be recovered. It had been thrown into its hiding place in the night by those who possessed it, and the secret had been solemnly sworn to on the naked blade of a dirk, an old form of Highland oath, held to be binding and sacred.
By different routes in the lone hours of night the holders of the secret assembled on the shores of this highland tarn and vainly tried to reach the bottom. The loch yielded nothing save now the almost certain fact that it was unfathomable.
Years rolled away, and no further attempts were made, since, dispirited, they agreed to abandon the hopeless toil of trying to fathom Lochan Kin Dhoan, as they then styled it. Subsequently, however, to their last failure an incident occurred that in that age of superstition cast around the loch the weird belief that it was haunted.
In a baronial keep lived a chief in all the rude pomp of feudal pride. His lady had died and left an only daughter, who, now grown up to womanhood, presided over the household. Her father's temper was haughty and imperious, and he ruled every one around him with stern sway. As was the custom in those days, he had long been at enmity with a neighboring chief. But love laughs at highland pride, as well as at locksmiths. His neighbor had a son, who, became enamored of the maiden. But how was the fatal gulf of feudal strife to be bridged? Time went on. Stolen interviews when by accident they met or when her father was absent were all that the young hearts could glean from the stern hate of both the parents till, unable to bear the long, weary weeks that occasionally prevented their meetings, the young chieftain determined to beard the lion in his den and demand the hand of his daughter. Accompanied by an escort, he arrived before the drawbridge and demanded an interview with the chief. The interview over, the young chieftain, with a heavy heart, recrossed that drawbridge and doffed his bonnet to a fair form on the battlements.
It was some time before they again met. The chief had used harsh words and harsh measures to his daughter, but "love will find out the way," and at the next meeting of the lovers they had arranged to elope. The strong power of woman's love nerved her for the deed. The heartless home she was about to leave seemed to palliate the act. The temporary absence of the old chief afforded opportunity.
On a dark November evening about two hours after sunset a horse bearing the young chieftain and his intended bride was wending its way with difficulty along the rugged mountain path amid the darkness when the sound of horses' hoofs was heard. To turn was to encounter foes behind as well as in front, if foes they were, as doubtless the flight of the lady had been discovered at the castle. Besides the nature of the ground and darkness rendered flight hopeless. To move a little to the side and quietly await the chance of being passed in the darkness was all that now remained to the youthful lovers. The night had hitherto been dark, but still. The wind was now sweeping over the bleak moor and hurrying the black clouds across the sky with increasing violence. The young chief felt the fair hand that held his girdle tighten as the sound of the horses' hoofs was heard, but no scream, no signs of fear. All had as yet gone well, when a gleam of moonlight lit up the scene and revealed a party of horsemen scarce thirty yards distant. There was no time for deliberation. The young chieftain dashed his spurs to his horse, and with a bound the noble animal was crossing the now moonlit moor at full speed, hotly pursued by the chief and his party. "Capture, but don't fire!" was the brief command.
At first the lovers outstripped their pursuers, but the double burden began to tell on the young chieftain's horse, and the distance between lessened. The chief was gaining on them at every stride, and the pale moon still shone on the scene. Suddenly, as if the earth had opened at their feet, over the precipice that overhangs the Lochan Kin Dhoan leaped the horse and his riders. An exclamation of horror, a wild yell of agony came from the chief as he beheld this fatal leap. A dull, heavy splash in the deep, dark water beneath was all that responded. From that hour it was shunned as a fatal spot.
The story of the treasure had been handed down from father to son, and a party of stout hearts again resolved to brave the dangers that surrounded the scene of the hidden gold. A night was fixed, but scarce had the task begun ere an arm, the hand holding a naked dirk, is said to have risen from the water and an unearthly voice to have ejaculated, "Forbear!"
A New Attraction.
A man who had been hired to write a circus announcement suddenly found himself at a loss for a fresh adjective. "See here," he said to his employer, "I don't know what to say about this panther. Have you got a thesaurus?" The manager of the circus looked at him with suspicion. "No, sir, I have not," he said, "and I don't think I shall do anything about getting one this year. I never heard of Barnum's having one either, and he had a good show. Where are they raised, anyway? I'd like to know!"—London Family Herald.

AN OLD FAVORITE

ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA

By General William H. Lytle

WILLIAM HAINES LYTLE was born in Cincinnati in 1856 and was killed at the battle of Chickamauga in 1864. He studied law, was a captain in the Mexican war and colonel in the Tenth Ohio volunteers in the civil war, rising to rank of brigadier general. History relates the story of the amours of Antony and Cleopatra, and it is also to be found in Shakespeare's "Antony and Cleopatra."

I AM dying, Egypt, dying!
Ebb the crimson life-tide fast,
And the dark Plutonian shadows
Gather on the evening blast:
Let thine arm, O Queen, enfold me,
Hush thy sobs and bow thine ear,
Listen to the great heart secrets,
Thou, and thou alone, must hear.
Though my scarred and veteran legions
Bear their eagles high no more,
And my wrecked and scattered galleys
Strew dark Actium's fatal shore;
Though no glittering guards surround me,
Prompt to do their master's will,
I must perish like a Roman,
Die the great Triumvir still.
Let not Caesar's servile minions
Mock the Lion thus laid low;
'Twas no foeman's arm that felled him,
His who, piloted on thy bosom,
Turned aside from glory's ray—
Cleopatra—Rome—farewell!

His who, drunk with thy caresses,
Madly threw a world away
Should the base piteous rattle
Dare assail my name at Rome,
Where the noble spouse Octavia
Weeps within her widowed home,
Seek her; say the gods bear witness—
Alas! august, circling wings—
That her blood, with mine commingled,
Yet shall mount the throne of kings.
As for thee, star-eyed Egyptian—
Glorious sorceress of the Nile!
Light the path to Stygian horrors
With the splendours of thy smile,
Give the Caesar crown and arches,
Let his brow the laurel twine:
I can scorn the senate's triumphs,
Triumphing in love like thine.

I am dying, Egypt, dying!
Hark! the insulting foeman's cry:
They are coming—quick, my falchion!
Let me front them ere I die
Ah, no more amid the battle
Shall my heart exulting swell,
Toss and dash against the sea—
Cleopatra—Rome—farewell!

WOMEN

Disguised as Negroes Murdered the Wife of Neighboring Nimrod. Guest Shot Two.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 18.—Representative C. L. Pool of Calhoun county, was in the city last night and related the story of a bloody tragedy that was enacted in the western part of Columbia county. Mr. Pool was unable, however, to give the names.

A citizen of the county sold a tract of land for $200 cash, and two of his neighbors, aware of the transaction, went to his home the following evening and proposed an opossum hunt.

The man departed with his neighbors. Soon afterward a peddler drove up to the house and requested lodging for the night. The housewife told the peddler to take his team to the barn and return to the house, which he did in a short time. When he reached the dwelling he found two negroes inside who had just murdered his hostess by severing her head from the body with a knife.

The peddler shot and killed the two negroes and immediately aroused the neighborhood. An examination revealed that the supposed negroes were in reality white women in disguise, and were the wives of the two men who had, an hour previously, gone hunting with the woman's husband. The latter failing to return, a search was instituted, and his body was found in the woods, where he had been murdered by his treacherous neighbors. A posse at once went in pursuit of them but had not effected a capture at latest accounts.

The Hahn Case.

Mansfield, O., Sept. 18.—The Hahn case, which was to have been called up in the Circuit court on the motion of the New York State attorneys, who were anxious to have the case advanced on the docket, will need no such special advancement owing to the action of the Court in taking advantage of the Royer act, permitting the passing over to the next session of a large number of cases which preceded Hahn's and brought this one to the front in regular order. Consequently today the Hahn affair will be heard.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Care of the Range.

There is a great difference between the ranges of today and those which were used a generation ago and which had to be "blackened" at stated intervals to be kept in order. A great many of the cooking stoves of today with polished tops need only to be washed off with soap and water. Still, the majority in practical use are blackened or, what is much more objectionable, enameled. The last device, enameled, seems to have been invented merely to conceal grease and other stains. Good housekeepers have long ago learned that a stove or gas range can be kept clean unless it is washed with soap and water and scraped before it is polished. When grease is spilled on the stove and is rubbed off quickly with a hard cotton cloth, it soon disappears, and if the stove is hot it is not necessary to wash it off. A few drops of kerosene put on the cloth will often remove an obstinate grease spot.

It is difficult to get coal that does not clinker. These clinkers may be easily removed by putting an oyster shell occasionally in the stove when the fire is burning brightly. The fumes arising from the oyster shell clean off the bricks.—New York Tribune.

Baked Peaches.

We have always despised clingstone peaches in spite of the delicious flavor possessed by many of these varieties, but they are troublesome to cut up and embarrassingly awkward to eat out of the hand. They are excellent, however, for baking, and this is the method. Wipe the fruit well with a soft cloth, so as to rub off the fuzz without bruising, and pack into a stone jar, filling about two-thirds full and scattering a little sugar among them. Cover with cold water and place the jar in the oven, baking the peaches slowly until they are tender and transparent, but not broken. It will take from two to three hours, according to heat of oven and size of peaches. The flavor is retained in full. Pears, either peeled or unpeeled, are excellent baked in the same way. If a little cinnamon bark is added to the sirup, pears of the commoner grades acquire a superior flavor. The long cooking turns pears a pleasing deep red.—Rural New Yorker.

For Books and Things.

A place to put books and a place to keep bats, golf clubs, lacrosse sticks and other things that are always around is a convenient possession.

Here is a solution of the problem: The case shown should be about 5 feet

A HANDY CASE.

6 inches high and 3 feet wide. The shelf across the top would hold a number of books, and underneath are two beautiful tuckaway places. If, my friend, you are a college boy, the curtain could be of your college colors, the rest of the case stained a becoming color. The door is fastened by a big wooden latch, and a pair of iron hinges would add very much to the style of the bookcase.

Broiled Chicken.

Choose for broiling chickens weighing from one and a half to two pounds. Split them down the back and remove the wings and legs. Cut some thin slices of nice salt pork into narrow strips and place over and under the chickens in the pan; also small bits of butter, salt and pepper to taste. Cover closely and steam in their own juice until sufficiently tender, being careful that the oven is not hot enough to burn the butter gravy in the pan. Baste once and remove from the pan, drizzle lightly with flour and broil long enough to brown nicely. Add to the gravy in the pan one tablespoonful of butter and the same of flour, stir until brown and add some hot water, boil to the desired thickness, add a half cupful of cream and pour over chicken.

Thoroughly Wash Provisions. Too much care cannot be taken of the housewife in seeing that all the provisions that come from exposed positions in the market are thoroughly washed. This is a particular in which women fastidious in other matters are often lax. All fruit and vegetables which are not to be denuded of their skins should have a thorough bath. No one who has seen bananas, for example, unloaded on the pier ever eats one without first washing it. Berries, currants, grapes, etc., not only gather the dust to which they are in greater or less degree exposed and bear the contamination of pickers' hands, but are liable to have been treated with insecticides which are of a poisonous nature to man as well as bugs.

Sweeping Carpets and Rugs. Many fine carpets are prematurely worn out by injudicious sweeping. Before sweeping an expensive carpet the floors should be thickly strewn with tea leaves, which attract the dust. Tea leaves may be used also with advantage upon rugs and short piled carpets. In sweeping thick piled floor coverings such as Axminster and Turkish carpets the broom should always brush the way of the pile. This simple precaution will keep the carpet for years, while with careless sweeping dust will enter the carpet and soon spoil it.

TO PASS THROUGH NEWARK ON SATURDAY.

Starts Friday on 19 Day Trip Through Thirteen States—He Stops at Cincinnati.

President Theodore Roosevelt will pass through Newark on a special train over the Pennsylvania lines, some time Saturday. Agent J. L. Worth said Thursday afternoon that he had not been advised as yet as to the time the special train will pass through Newark. The President is en route to Cincinnati to attend the fall festival.

Washington, Sept. 18.—The official schedule of President Roosevelt's trip was made public today. He will start tomorrow and during the 19 days will visit thirteen states. Among the cities he will visit are Cincinnati, Detroit, Kokomo, Ind., Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Yankton, S. D., Lincoln, Neb., Omaha, Topeka, Kas., Des Moines, Ia., St. Louis, Chicago and many way points. On the way home he will visit Toledo for an hour or so and will spend all day Sunday, October 5, in Cleveland.

President Roosevelt will be accompanied on his northwestern trip by Dr. James J. Richardson, a well known throat specialist, whose sole duty will be to keep the chief magistrate's speaking apparatus in good working order. It will be the first time in the history of presidential tours that such a specialist has been employed and proves that President Roosevelt regards his jaunt as the hardest he has yet undertaken. Dr. George A. Luns, who has accompanied the President on other trips, will also be a member of the party to look after the general health of the President and to prescribe for any other member of the party that may require medical attention.

Another dispatch to the Advocate from Washington says:

"The President leaves Jersey City at 2:14 p. m. Friday and will arrive at Cincinnati at 10 a. m. Saturday." This indicates that he will go through Newark about 5 or 6 o'clock Saturday morning, but a more definite statement as to the time will be announced in Friday's paper.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 18.—President Roosevelt will be accompanied as far as New York, by Mrs. Roosevelt, when he leaves Oyster Bay on the Sylph tomorrow on his western trip. Although busily engaged on the last touches of his speeches the President found time today to entertain two guests at luncheon. They were Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, and Prof. J. A. Jenks, of Cornell, the trust expert, who studied the trust question in Europe for the industrial commission.

Which Are to be Rivals in Popularity During the Coming Season Here Described.

New York, Sept. 18.—Two new and beautiful hats which will be rivals in popularity during the coming seasons are the "Duchess of Marlborough" and the "Helen Gould."

The Duchess is a sweeping affair of brown velvet, a modified Gainsborough in shape. The face trimming is of pink chiffon, the crown circled by a wreath of ostrich tips and a long, drooping plume falls over the back. In compliment to her nobility degree, the "Helen Gould" is a mortar board in white cloth, with garniture of white satin and lace.

Copperas Mountain in Ross County Causing Alarm.

Smoke Issues From Crevices in the Mountain Side—The Outcropping Slate Red Hot From Which Sulphurous Fumes Arise—Mysteries Science Only Can Explain.

Washington C. H., Sept. 18.—Standing like a sturdy sentinel, jealously guarding the picturesque Paint Creek Valley, three miles south of Bain bridge, the garden spot of Southern Ohio, old Copperas Mountain towers above the surrounding hills of Ross county, making them sink into insignificance beside its stately peaks. As far back as the memory of man runs has the mountain been regarded with pride and affection by the residents of the valley. Its sheer precipitous cliffs, overhanging the beautiful creek, which almost reaches the dignity of a river, "where the mount and river meet," present a picture worthy of an artist's brush, and admiration for its wild grandeur thrills the visitor.

But Copperas, like Mt. Pelee, bids fair to prove a treacherous friend. Its stolid, calm exterior, which has stood for centuries, keeping watch and guard over the fertile valley and its busy inhabitants, is now disturbed by internal dissension and the muttering of the approaching storm is heard. Copperas Mountain is on fire.

From the crevices in the slate, which from time to time scales off and falls with a crash into the creek below, may now be seen tiny columns of smoke arising, and closer investigation discloses the outcropping slate red hot. Where the heat is more intense the black slate has turned to a dull brown, and sulphurous fumes arise.

These volcanic symptoms have been noticed before by residents near the mountain, but not until the recent disaster in Martinique has any fear been felt or expressed.

About 20 years ago, according to the stories of the old citizens, Copperas Mountain sent forth smoke, and perhaps some flame, which at the time caused a little excitement, but as it died away the people were lulled to peace again, and the incident was gradually forgotten. Several months ago smoke was again noticed on the mountain side, and when some fearless mountaineers laboriously climbed to the spot it was so hot they could stand for a few moments only on the burning slate. About the time of the Pelee eruption some of the natives claim there was an increased activity on Copperas, and on dark nights small flames belched forth, and the smell of sulphur could be distinctly detected in the vicinity.

A great many people have become alarmed at these indications and think there may be some connection with Mt. Pelee, and that perhaps Paint Valley is in danger of a disaster similar to that of the Island of Martinique, only on a smaller scale. Others scoff at this and say it is only the outcropping of sulphur and copperas which has become fired by the heat of the sun and that there is no need to fear an eruption.

The sides of the mountain where the smoke has recently been seen is so precipitous that it is almost impossible to make a close investigation unless some one is lowered by means of a rope from the top of the mountain. As the heat is so great, no one has yet been willing to undertake this method of investigation, but it is now possible some action will be taken by scientists to get the actual facts and discover if there are any volcanic symptoms.

Copperas Mountain takes its name from the large deposits of copperas. As the mighty flakes scale off from time to time and fall into the valley the copperas gathers on the exposed places, and can easily be seen. Sulphur springs abound in the vicinity of the mountain.

The mound builders favored this place and many mounds are found in this vicinity, old Copperas being drawn on for supplies. In comparatively modern times the Indians made long pilgrimages to Copperas Mountain and gathered the oxide of iron, which makes the highest and most durable war paint.

The white settlers who began to occupy the valley about 1800 soon became accustomed to seeing bands of Indians headed for Copperas Mountain to get their supply of paint to bedeck themselves when they prepared for war on opposing tribes.

Science alone can discover the secret hidden in its stony breast.

Gall, Not Heart, in China.

The Chinese, says the Shanghai Mercury, lay stress on the amount of gall a man has and not on the amount of heart. Thus we read of Hou King, who was governor of Honan in the sixteenth century, that he once captured a rebel named Li Choh, brought him into the market, chopped off his hands and his feet, ripped up his heart and cut out his vitals. The victim, however, continued to jest with his features undistorted and his countenance unchanged. His gall bladder was then seen to have the capacity of a pint measure, which completely accounted for his stoicism. In 1645, when the armies of the Manchus were gradually overrunning China, one Wu Han Chao made head against them in Anhui, but he finally fell into their hands. The historian records that his gall was three inches long.

During the Boer war Hungary exported 63,680 horses to South Africa by way of Flume.

BIG FUND FOR FILIPINOS

Episcopalians to Raise $1,000,000 to Educate the Natives.

MANILA TO HAVE A CATHEDRAL.

J. Pierpont Morgan and Senator Hanna Interested in Plan to Establish a Social Settlement—Bishop Brent to be the Head of the Church in the Philippines.

A comprehensive movement having for its object the extension of the American national idea in the Philippines and of Christianity among the native Filipinos has been started by the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States, says the New York Times. It proposes to raise a fund of $1,000,000, with which a central institutional church will be founded at Manila and from which preachers and lay teachers will be sent to other parts of the islands where branch institutions are to be established. No attempt whatever, it is stated, will be made to work in antagonism with the Catholic church in the islands.

A statement that was issued the other day in regard to the new movement was signed by J. Pierpont Morgan, Senator Marcus A. Hanna, George McCulloch Miller of New York, James L. Houghteling of Chicago, William H. Crocker of San Francisco and Samuel Mather of Cleveland.

In the statement it was said that "it is important that American Christianity should be in a position to carry on such work among the natives [Filipinos] as will convince them of the benevolent intention of the people of the United States."

The sum mentioned as necessary is $1,000,000. J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. will receive subscriptions.

It was announced that $100,000 is in hand for a cathedral at Manila and that George C. Thomas, a banker of Philadelphia, has given $25,000 to provide buildings for parish work in connection with the cathedral foundations. It was said that of the $1,000,000 required about $200,000 is in sight. It was intimated that the giver of the $100,000 was not Mr. Morgan and that the sum came from Boston. Bishop Brent, formerly rector of St. Stephen's church, Boston, will be at the head of the church in the Philippines.

At the Manila settlement there will be nine members of the clergy, two trained nurses and several kindergarten teachers and lay missionaries, besides a physician. It is estimated that the maintenance of the settlement will cost about $5,000 a year, and the industrial school which will be established in connection with it will cost about $2,000 more. In the school agriculture and woodworking are to be taught.

COAL STORES UNDER WATER

British Dock Managers Say Heating Power Is Thus Better Retained.

The leading dock authorities of south Wales are urging the government to make experiments in storing steam coal under water as the best means of preserving its calorific power, says a cable dispatch from London to the Chicago News. Rear Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, in arguing that the efficiency and power of immediate action of a British fleet depends upon an adequate coal supply at a naval base, declares that his experience has been that a vessel will have to consume more than twice the normal amount of coal per indicated horsepower if the coal has been kept too long in store.

The dock managers in writing their experience say that when the docks are periodically dredged lumps of coal have been found which had fallen during the process of loading, were covered with mud and coal dust and had been from three to six months under water. This, when dried, burned well. A further test was made of immersing a quantity of coal for two months. Afterward its calorific power was compared with a quantity from the same block of typical Monmouthshire steam coal. The loss in the immersed coal was less than 1 per cent.

The dock authorities advise the construction of concrete tanks capable of holding 5,000 tons or more, which could be run off into sea water. When wanted for use, exposure to the subterranean heat of Malta or Gibraltar would soon dry it.

New Ideas in Women's Hosiery.

Colored hosiery for women is no longer considered the best form. Black stockings are again in vogue. The only touch of color is in the embroidery, and even in this white is most favored. Filmy textures is one of the most striking features of the new stockings. The thinnest of gauze and lace will be worn even in cold weather. A rich cream colored hose will be worn with the white costume. A navy blue stocking is being worn with the latest autumn gown. The gray stocking has ceased to be a fad. Applied lace decorations in hosiery are much sought. These have the lace design sewed to a plain lace thread hose, and while having the appearance of a lace openwork stocking, yet are as warm as a solid knit foot covering.

New Embalming Field.

Delegates to the Michigan undertakers' convention received a surprise at Battle Creek the other day in the form of a body that has not been inside a coffin since death occurred nearly a year ago, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

It was preserved by a fluid which eliminates the water in the body and dries the balance. The exhibition was made by Walter Keet, a local undertaker, and the body was that of John Leek, a pauper, who died Nov. 19, 1901, in a local hospital.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Plowing Under Green Crops.

In the report of the farmers' institute of Ontario Duncan Anderson writes of "Green Crops as Fertilizers." He says he has two farms, one of them being a mile or more from where he lives. It is too far to haul manure, so he has found it necessary to sow green crops to be plowed in for cultivation.

Clover has proved most satisfactory, although if a catch of it is not secured peas will be valuable.

The value of clover as a green manure is shown by the fact that a fair crop gathers in its stalks, leaves and roots, per acre, 138 pounds of nitrogen, 115 of potash and 46 of phosphoric acid. With nitrogen worth 10 cents a pound, the money value is great.

It may not be practical to lose a crop in order to gain the fertilization, but in some instances it has proved well to do so, the succeeding wheat crop bringing in far more than the clover crop and smaller wheat crop could have done. An average crop of clover, however, which has been made into hay, will leave between ten and eleven tons of root growth per acre, which will benefit the soil almost immeasurably. The fertilizing effect of the broad leaves shading the surface of the soil adds to the usefulness of the clover.

No rotation can be complete unless clover is prominent in it. It cleans the soil as well as enriches it. It is best to sow the clover seed in front of the drill instead of behind it. If sown behind the drill, the seed will, for the most part, fall in the same tracks as the oats or barley, which, being stronger, will sap up the fertility. Air and sunlight and a deep root are needed for a good catch, with strength to resist the fall drought.

Cleaning Up Poultry Yards.

Spading or plowing a poultry yard is not "cleaning it up" according to our view of the case. It is simply conserving the filth and preventing the purifying sunshine from doing its salutary work. The way to "clean up a poultry yard" is to clean it up and burn the trash or remove it and use it to fertilize cultivated crops. Plowing is all right if the fowls are to be removed and a crop of some sort grown, for in that case the crops remove most of the deleterious matter. But in this case the "yard" ceases to be a poultry yard for a season. The way to clean a poultry yard is to use a rake, a broad broom, fire and a wheelbarrow and then give the sun free access to the surface. Spade up a place for the fowls to scratch and wallow in, and the thing is done about right.—Farm and Ranch.

Care of Farm Implements.

Are your blunder and mower still out where you stopped work last? Are the plows still coated with the soil of last spring's plowing? These things cost money, and the rust, like a canker, will eat up your profits. The last thing to do when the harvest is over is to clean the reaper and mower and put them away. Clean away all the old caked grease and dirt and use kerosene to loosen up the accumulation. Then in the fall after all the farm implements are in put a coat of paint on all surfaces of wood or iron that are painted and give the polished mold boards a coat of boiled oil. Then when work opens again you will have tools and implements in order to begin and will save time and increase the life of the tools very materially.

Don'ts For Farmers.

Don't buy a thing you do not need because it is cheap. It will prove dear, because a useless investment.

Don't depend too much on the weather to make your crops. Steady working in a dry season is worth a good shower, causing the moisture to rise.

Don't revile your cow because she is not profitable when you give her nothing but the worm eaten nubbins in winter and turn her on a pennyroyal pasture in summer.

Don't yield to the temptation to go in debt because you can get a thing "on twelve months' time." If you make it a rule to pay cash, you will find that you can do without many things you buy because your credit is good.—Tennessee Farmer.

Keeping Onions.

In keeping onions it is of the greatest importance to have sound, well developed bulbs, says Mrs. P. J. Yenabie in Practical Farmer. My practice is to pull them as soon as tops fall over. After a week of bright weather they are pulled by hand and laid in rows to cure, which will take two or three days. If a rain falls on them, they will take a second growth and rot in spite of all care. When cured, they are taken to a cool room and put on the floor not deeper than a foot. They are also put on shelves. The tops are not twisted off until the onions are to be sold, as they prevent the bulbs from picking too close. Having free ventilation, they keep better.

Keep Records.

Keep a record of what you are doing on the farm, the time of planting, harvesting, methods employed in cultivating, yields of grain and hay, sales of cattle and other products. When intelligently kept, such records are invaluable, and it is but little work to jot them down each week in a book kept for this purpose. A comparison year by year leads to better and more profitable farming, the discarding of unprofitable stock and unproductive varieties and the substitution of better ones. A record of events pays, and pays well.—American Agriculturist.

The latest device for marking cattle and one used by British breeders is to tattoo characters in the ear by means of a special forceps and India ink.

MRS. NELLIE MATHERS HORN

A New Hampshire Woman Who Is Renowned as a Portrait Painter.

In a cozy little old fashioned house on State street in Portsmouth, N. H., lives Mrs. Nellie Mathers Horn, the young artist whose portrait of Hon. John D. Long for the Bucksport (Me.) Public Library is, in the ex-secretary's opinion, the best likeness of him ever put upon canvas, and who has painted more distinguished New Englanders, perhaps, than any other woman in the country.

The square, low studded house, hung thickly with sketches and canvases, seems to have been planned purposely for an artist's home, but the heavy eaves and small paned windows were never intended for an artist's work.

MRS. NELLIE MATHERS HORN.

shop, and Mrs. Horn's studio is half a mile away in the business center of the quaint old city.

There, with Mr. U. D. Tenney, New Hampshire's distinguished portrait painter, with whom she began as a pupil to become later his assistant and still more recently his fellow workman as well, Mrs. Horn spends much of her days at her easel.

In the studio, which is up three flights of stairs in one of the typical business blocks of the old New Hampshire city, there is evidence of the wide range in portrait painting covered by Mrs. Horn's efforts.

Her canvases and Mr. Tenney's hang intermingled on the walls and share the easels.

There are several Revolutionary and colonial personages; there are men prominent in the business and government of the Granite State; there are women, representatives of its social life and domestic interests.

Almost across the way from the studio is the city building, in which hang portraits of the living ex-mayors of Portsmouth, all of which are the work of Mrs. Horn. They have been made from time to time, most of them within the last three years, and Portsmouth people think them such particularly good likenesses that they are one of the show features of the city pointed out to visitors.

The large New Hampshire fairs have seen several of the pictures of this young woman artist, and at two she has taken prizes, not only for the excellence of her execution, but for originality in conception.—Boston Globe.

Women and Golf.

"Golf," says a physician, chatting upon the subject of sport and woman to a contributor to Fashion, "affords more than health giving physical exercise. It serves also to distract the mind and thus act as an antidote to one of the worst sort of commonest of modern mental ailments—namely, the habit of introspection or self analysis." It was tennis, he continues, which marked the birth of the new era, which he has very aptly termed "the era of health reform," and when tennis died a natural death it did so merely in order to make way for the still more invigorating yet less violent form of exercise known as golf. At many of the clubs women are eligible for membership, while at nearly all those open only to men women are allowed to play on the club links on certain days. The result is that thousands upon thousands of girls and young women—and old women, too, for that matter—who a couple of decades ago would have been compelled to spend the greater part of their lives in comparative dullness and inaction now indulge regularly in outdoor exercise of a sort most beneficial to their constitution physically, and being thus brought into contact with plenty of their fellow beings, their thoughts unconsciously drift into fresh channels and thus drive away, at any rate for a time, unpleasant recollection of domestic troubles and minor worries, with which all women are at times more or less afflicted.

Becoming Colors.

The red haired woman looks her best in browns shading into the tones of her hair or rich dark greens. Much depends, of course, on the complexion and eyes, but with a white or pink and white skin, especially if the eyes be brown or black exquisite results can be obtained with a little care.

Clothes Hangers.

Skirt and bodice hangers are now so inexpensive that they can be a feature in every woman's wardrobe. The frames may be wound with strips of cloth or silk. Oris powder or some delicate sachet may be used in the lining to impart a faint fragrance to the garment.

A worker in metals is authority for the statement that an ornamental clock may be cleaned at home by applying with a soft brush a thin paste made of ammonia and whiting mixed.

Brooms when wet should be hung up to dry and not left standing.

Drying brooms by clapping them between the hands injures them.

Send the Girls to College.

The thoughtful reader will need no argument to prove that as a rule women are still addicted to the eighteenth century learning. Many reforms in living, in sanitation, in social affairs, are blocked for this reason. How illy fitted most of them are to deal with questions of food, of buildings, of administration, the records of many unsuccessful experiments show. It is not because they are women, but because they have not the larger, wider, fundamental knowledge of "things and what can be done with them" which every person, man or woman, should consider in this age. Rather send the wide-awake, capable girl to college, where she may learn to use her body as well as her mind; where she may learn what makes a nation great and powerful to-day, as well as what made Rome the mistress of the world; where she may gain some little insight into the wonderful unity of the known universe, from the infinitely small atom or ion to the infinitely distant star.—Woman's Home Companion.

Let the Baby Romp.

A healthy child travels miles in a day—plays cars with the chairs in the dining room, playing conductor, taking tickets, riding his broomstick horse. He will look at pictures or books, but all the while he is squirming, rolling or kicking. He must not be restrained. Give him plenty of room and freedom of movement. Thus he will digest his food and thrive as a child should. If he is kept still, then begin sick spells. He must not feel that he is hampered. He must know, however, that some one is in authority, ready to enter into fun with him or to put a brake on when advisable. The child is to be pitied who has not the strong arm of authority to lean upon.

red. The greens, too, are delightful on her; also certain yellows and blacks. White is less becoming, but she must be brilliant in complexion or else must be delicate as to tints to wear grays and blues to advantage. Blues, particularly the pale and cold blues, are best adapted to brunettes.

The woman whose hair is a dull brown and whose complexion and eyes lack brilliancy may still be most attractive, but she should avoid bright hues or glittering hats. Dull browns, neither yellowish nor reddish, should be selected. Avoid the satin strains. Take the dull finished. With this color of hair certain shades of dull pink or subdued yellow can be used. With a dull or muddy complexion as well as dull eyes and hair the problem is indeed difficult.

Sometimes a dash of rich color used in the proper spot will impart a certain brightness that seems a feature of the face itself. One must experiment and never give up the battle. Perhaps a facing of black velvet on a straw hat is the best for such, as black velvet of good quality is always beautifying in its effect.

The Dining Table.

The care of the dining room table is very simple. Once a week rub hard with a soft flannel moistened with paraffin oil and turpentine, then with a piece of soft old linen. Let it rest for an hour and rub hard with a piece of chamois or clean old linen. Give it a daily rubbing with chamois or linen. White spots on a table can often be removed by rubbing with kerosene. If the spots are very deep, rub gently and rapidly with linsed oil and powdered rottenstone. Do not use great pressure, and be sure not to let the powder get dry.—Ladies' Home Journal.

For Falling Hair.

Half an ounce of camphor with one ounce of borax dissolved in a quart of water, preferably rainwater, makes a very efficacious wash for falling hair. Heat the water before adding the camphor and borax, as this will facilitate the dissolving of the ingredients. Bottle and keep closely corked for use. Apply freely to the scalp two or three times a week.

Plaster Statues.

To clean plaster statues make ordinary cooked starch as if for the laundry, only not quite so stiff. While it is still hot cover the whole of the cast with it. Set it aside for a day and then peel off the starch, when the statue will probably be found quite clean. If, however, it is badly soiled, it will probably need a second application of starch.

Washing Fluid.

A simple and convenient washing fluid is made by this recipe. Have your druggist give you one ounce each of ammonia and salts of tartar. Dissolve one pound of potash in a gallon of boiling water. Add one tablespoonful of the boiling suds and rub the clothes after they have been boiled.

JOHN W. ADAMS

Leaves Next Monday to Represent
Licking County Creamery at the Columbus Branch.

The Licking County Creamery has become one of the marked industries of Newark and Licking county, and its business is branching out all over Central Ohio. A number of branch offices have already been opened in adjacent cities, and the management is now engaged in arranging for the opening of a branch office in Columbus. Mr. John W. Adams, who for the past two seasons has so successfully represented Idlewild Park, as its traveling representative, has accepted a position with the company and will act as its representative at Columbus, leaving for that place on next Monday to assume his new duties.

The Creamery company is to be congratulated on securing the services of Mr. Adams. He is a hustler, and no man is better acquainted with the people of Central Ohio than he. For the past twenty-seven years he has been a labor organizer, and has done much to make Newark one of the best union towns in the state, and still retains his position as President of the Newark Trades and Labor Council.

GRANVILLE

FAREWELL RECEPTION GIVEN
REV MR. STENGER,

Who Will Leave for Foreign Field
Soon—Granville Centennial in 1905—Personals.

Granville, Ohio, Sept. 18—Wednesday evening a social was given by the Baptist Young People's Union of the Baptist church, in the church parlors at 7 o'clock, for the purpose of bidding farewell to a former member of the union and a Denison graduate, Mr. Seth Stenger of this place, who was ordained here a short time ago for the ministry. Mr. Stenger will soon leave for the foreign field, and the best wishes of all his many friends will go with him. During the evening a short program was given. Mr. Frank Amos rendered a beautiful violin solo, which was followed by an address by Dr. E. W. Hunt, president of Denison university, in which he offered an earnest prayer for the success of Mr. Stenger. Miss Grace Harford sang the hymn, "Take My Heart" in a very pleasing manner. Dr. Baldwin's earnest address was responded to by Rev. Mr. Stenger, who, in a feeling manner bade his friends here farewell. Refreshments were then served and social chat indulged in for a brief season.

Master Seely Williams, who has been spending the past week in Detroit, returned home on Wednesday. The members of the Chi Psi Delta Society of Shepardson College are wearing their colors, the maroon and lemon, for the Misses Anna Beattie and Esther Williams and Miss Shepard.

Mr. Earnest Swartz, a former Denison student, who has been studying medicine in Cincinnati, is visiting in the village.

Miss Laura Denman and Mr. Harold Denman, her brother, of Norwich, Ohio, who have been visiting friends here for the past week, left for their home on Tuesday.

Dr. F. W. Shepardson visited the public schools of the village on Wednesday and spoke to the pupils regarding the centennial celebration to be held in Granville in 1905. His remarks were very interesting and were listened to with the closest attention, and it is a sure thing that many of those who heard him will take an active part in the big celebration.

Harvey Gates of Johnstown was in the city several days during the past week.

Mrs. Guy Munson is visiting Mrs. Susan Ashley.

Mrs. John Boyd visited Mrs. Edith Schoonover on Sunday morning.

Harry Miller, superintendent of the Crawford Natural Gas company at this place, is making some decided improvements in his office on Broadway. The office, both on the interior and exterior is being brightened up with a fresh coat of paint.

Clifford Willsee of Cincinnati, Eugene Huffman of Dayton and R. H. Struble of Fredericktown, spent Sunday with friends in the village.

P. B. Moodler of Dayton, was in town this week.

While Will Black, the well known teamster, was engaged in moving a piano belonging to Shepardson College, the bed of the wagon tipped, throwing the piano out on the ground, badly damaging it.

JURY LAW

MEETING OF NEWARK BAR IS TO BE HELD MONDAY.

Effect of Decision is That Whole Law
is Unconstitutional—Licking
County Affected.

On Tuesday of this week Prosecuting Attorney James R. Fitzgibbon, of this city, was in Columbus, and met Judge R. M. Voorhees, of the Circuit Court, and in a talk with him on various matters incidentally touched on the recent decision affecting the jury laws. The Judge said that Licking county was in the same position as other counties of the State which were affected by the recent decision of special legislation. Wednesday afternoon Mr. Fitzgibbon consulted Judge Seward about the matter and after they had examined the statutes it became very apparent that the law was unconstitutional. Judge Seward will discuss the matter with the bar on Monday morning, at which time the grand jury will meet. The effect of the decision is that the whole law is unconstitutional and that therefore the juries drawn both grand and petit, have been drawn without authority. At present there is a bill pending before the Legislature to remedy the law. In the event of its passage it would seem that it would be necessary for the Judge to reappoint the Jury Commission, and the commission to begin work anew.

The courts in Franklin county are now only chancery cases and are postponing action on all jury cases pending the passage of this law by the Legislature.

This affects the Prosecutor's office of Licking county particularly, because the grand jury is called to meet next Monday morning to investigate a large number of cases. If this error had not been discovered and the grand jury had gone on and done its work every indictment could have been set aside on the ground that the Grand Jury which had returned the bill had been illegally selected. The same would apply to all civil jury cases. The wisdom and care of Prosecutor Fitzgibbon in this matter is manifest.

Not only is the Prosecutor's office filled today by one of the most competent and ablest lawyers at the Licking county bar, but Mr. Fitzgibbon is devoting such special attention to his duties that the public interests and the ends of justice will be taken care of in the best possible manner.

Oh, why will you let that invalid frined suffer what Walther's Peptonized Port will so certainly cure.

GUARDING THE PRESIDENT.

Additional Precautions For His Safety Being Generally Urged.

As a result of the recent accident to the president and his party at Pittsfield, Mass., a suggestion has been made that there be organized a special corps of detectives to look after all details relating to the president's safety while in Washington and while traveling about the country, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This work is now part of the duty of the secret service men, but it is proposed to have a number of picked experts to do this and nothing else.

The matter was broached at the treasury department, but the officials there were not prepared to indorse it entirely. Assistant Secretary Taylor said that so far as affording general protection to the president was concerned this was done very effectively by the secret service men already. He added, however, that he thought it would be a wise thing to provide an official coachman for the president to drive the latter in all the cities that he might visit. "With such a man in the coachman's box," said Mr. Taylor, "there would be no danger of the horses getting beyond control or of the driver taking unwarranted risks in passing car tracks. It would also be a good thing to have one or two men on hand to see that everything connected with the train on which the president was to travel was in proper order."

Public men in Washington have given some attention to the question of whether or not as a matter of policy it is a good thing for the president to travel generally about the country. The universal opinion has been that, all things considered, the good resulting from such tours offsets the risks involved.

Magie.

Three little kittens, out at play,
Scampering about the lawn one day.

Three little kittens, as white as snow,
Hunting for mischief, high and low.

A piece of stovepipe lying near,
Dropped by the rubbish man, I fear.

Three little kittens with snow white fur,
Crept in at one end with contented purr.

Then a strange thing happened, as you'll agree,
And wonder how such a thing could be.

For out of the other end into the light
Crept three little kittens as black as night.

HEAD OF BEEF COMBINE.

Man Who Manages New Trust Was Once a Common Butcher.

Edward A. Cudahy of Omaha, who is to be general manager of the packers' combine at a salary said to be $100,000 a year, began his career as a practical butcher, slaughtering steers, skinning them and dressing the meat for market.

Mr. Cudahy is the youngest of four brothers who have made a fortune in the packing business. Their capital is something like $20,000,000. Like his brothers—Michael, John and Patrick—he is a man of tremendous energy and great physical force. Of superb Celtic physique that seems never to weary, resourceful, keen in business wit, possessed of great capacity for detail, Edward Cudahy is one of the striking figures in the commercial and industrial world.

Edward A. Cudahy is not so well known as his brothers Michael and

EDWARD A. CUDAHY.

John. Michael is a real pioneer in the packing business, having been associated in partnership with Philip D. Armour, Sr., before the younger brother had begun to make himself felt in the business.

He was sent to Omaha to manage the Armour & Co. plant in the eighties, when Michael Cudahy was still a partner with Armour. Later, when the elder Cudahy took the Omaha establishment as his share of the Armour business and surrendered his interests in Chicago, Edward became his brother's partner in the new Omaha Cudahy house.

Edward Cudahy is young compared with the other captains of the packing industry, save J. Ogden Armour. That he is young and in the prime of his physical and mental power are said to have been the considerations that entered into his selection as the directive head of a business enterprise so vast as is the new beef trust.
